

MAN MEETS DEATH, 2 OTHERS HURT ON BUCKS HIGHWAYS

Joseph A. Myers, 38, of Perkaskie, Dies of Head and Internal Injuries

MOTORCYCLIST HURT

Boy of 14 Injured Slightly As He Crosses Lincoln Highway

There was one highway fatality in Bucks County during the week-end, a Perkaskie man being the victim. In lower Bucks County a pedestrian, a boy of 14, was slightly hurt when struck by an automobile.

Joseph A. Myers, 38, of Perkaskie R. D. 1, was killed, and Stephen Halewick, 28, of Quakertown R. D. 3, who was riding behind him on a motorcycle, was injured seriously Saturday when the vehicle struck a tree near Weisel, two miles north of Perkaskie.

Myers died at Grandview Hospital, Sellersville. Halewick is in critical condition there with head and internal injuries. State police of the Quakertown barracks said the motorcycle apparently skidded after a light rain.

Myers was married and the father of two children, Halewick, unmarried, is the son of Mrs. Pauline Halewick.

The lad who was injured is Charles Goodyear, 14, of Pine street, Newtown Square. According to Pennsylvania State Police of Langhorne barracks, Goodyear was crossing the Lincoln Highway near Philadelphia City Line, at 745 last evening. He is said to have been hit by an automobile operated by Harold T. Beach, 53, of 1209 block of Sanger street, Philadelphia. The driver took the lad to Nazareth Hospital, Phila., where he was treated for laceration of the right knee.

3M's Sales For Six Months Show Increase

Net sales of the Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. for the second quarter of 1949 were $27,667,435, according to the firm's interim report, issued to stockholders today.

This was an increase of nearly $800,000 over the same period a year ago, and brings 3M's sales for the first six months of 1949 to $54,552,850, up nearly three million over the first half of 1948.

Second quarter earnings per share of common stock were $1.53, compared to $1.44 last year.

Net income after taxes amounted to $3,114,973, or $209,000 over the second quarter of 1948.

In a letter which accompanied the financial report, William L. McKnight, 3M president, pointed out that the latest sales figures reached an all-time high for his company.

But he warned that "in view of present conditions, it would certainly be over-optimistic to expect that sales during the last half of 1949 will approach the record levels reached during the last half of 1948."

"However," McKnight noted, "should there be an early leveling-off in the current business downswing, there is good reason to believe that our sales will continue at a fairly high level."

He blamed 3M's slightly lower profit ratio for the second quarter on the increased sale of low-profit items and greater "emphasis on our selling and research activities."

Headquarters of the company are in St. Paul and one of the company's plants is located in Bristol.

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

The Rev. A. J. Neuenchwander, of Quakertown, has arrived home after having spent ten weeks in South America in the interests of Mennonite mission work.

With Quakertown schools slated to open on September 7th, the board of directors has been kept busy opening and examining bids for supplies and equipment needed for the coming year.

At the monthly meeting of the board, a contract for 100 desk and table units was awarded to the Heywood-Wakefield company for the sum of $1,902. This represented the lowest bid received. The new desk and table units will be used to equip the new second grade classroom, as well as the other second grade rooms.

Among other contracts awarded was one for a recording machine at a cost of $369.50.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Early returns in the election of a Lower House for the German Federal Republic yesterday showed a swing to the right with the conservative Christian Democratic Union polling 3,590,000 votes to 2,900,000 for the Social Democrats. The Communists were running a poor fourth with 730,000.

Western Germans exhibited little excitement as they took part in their first free election since the days of the Weimar Republic. There was some uneasiness but few crowds and little interest in the returns.

The Greek Nationalist Minister of War announced his Government's terms for ending the three-year civil war. They included unconditional surrender by the Communist-led guerrillas, court martial trials for rebel leaders and freedom from reprisal for rebels' families. The Greek General Staff reported that guerrilla defensive positions in the Vitsi Mountains had been wiped out after a four-day offensive.

Twelve thousand Roman Catholics gathered at Trnava in Slovakia for the consecration of two new Czechoslovak Bishops. There was no interference with the ceremony, despite lack of approval by the Communist Government.

BOLT DESTROYS RANGE AND A REFRIGERATOR

Jackson Home at Fallsington Damaged Considerably by Lightning

ESTIMATED AT $2,500

FALLSINGTON, Aug. 15—A residence here was damaged to the extent of approximately $2,500 Saturday night when struck by a bolt of lightning. The house was owned by Jackson Brothers, Makefield road, and was struck during a heavy thunderstorm. No one was injured.

According to Chief Charles Steiner of the Falls Township Fire Co., the bolt struck the rear of the house and crashed through the kitchen, destroying a refrigerator and an electric range, as well as causing considerable damage to the roof of the dwelling. Observers said the bolt tore a gaping hole in the side of the house, strewn weather boards 75 feet from the building.

A woman who had been working in the kitchen left the room seconds before the lightning struck.

Police and Families Have A Gala Picnic

EDDINGTON, Aug. 15—Yesterday was a big day for members and associate members of Bucks Lodge, No. 53, Fraternal Order of Police. There were approximately 200 in attendance during the day at the outing which was held at Killian Country Club, here. Families of the policemen were among the guests.

There was a program of interesting games and contests carried out during the afternoon. The results of these games is in doubt. The married men claim that the single men were no match for them, while the single cops claim that they "copped" the game. The baseball game between the bachelors and the benedicts only went two innings, and it is the married men's contention that they scored so many runs that the game was called.

When the foot races were over, charges were made that too many dished for the dinner table, instead of the given goals.

Judging by accounts of some few regarding enormous appetites of other officers, tons of food and gallons of beverages must have disappeared.

TO OFFER PRACTICAL SPEECH COURSE HERE

Is Designed to Help People in All Walks of Life

SELF-CONFIDENCE AID

Practical speech or public speaking, a course designed to help the needs of people in all walks of life, will be offered at the Penn State evening class program at the Bristol high school beginning September 15.

This course, which has proved extremely popular when offered by the College in other parts of the State, starts off with basic essentials. Stress will be placed on the fundamentals underlying good speech, including the organization of thought. Consideration will be given to correct and effective vocal and bodily activity and the removal of individual difficulties, both mental and physical. The delivery of brief speeches by class members will also be an integral part of the course.

Alfred E. Lewis, administrative head of the evening class program, said today that the course is not aimed to make orators but rather to give one a degree of self-confidence in thinking on his feet before groups and thinking logically in discussion groups.

Other courses contemplated for the fall term program are history of Pennsylvania, general psychology, traffic management, Spanish, art, industrial relations, business law, insurance, elementary and advanced accounting, business letter writing, business arithmetic, and a number of engineering courses, including electricity and drafting.

Car Reported Stolen Was Only Taken in Mistake

An automobile reported stolen from the Bristol parking lot, Saturday night, was found later to have been taken by mistake. It was returned to the owner.

A car registered in the name of Charles and Mary MacIntosh, 1957 Sterling street, Philadelphia, was reported missing to the police Saturday evening. The car had been left by the operator on the parking lot while he attended a local movie. It was a 1941 Dodge two-door sedan painted black.

The car was listed as stolen and the usual teletype message sent out. Yesterday George Smeltzer, Main street, Croydon, reported to the police that he found he had taken the wrong car from the parking lot. Smeltzer's car was the same model, same year, same color, and had the same seat covers as the MacIntosh car.

Police did a little checking and found that the Croydon man had in error taken the MacIntosh car as his key fitted the ignition.

This is the second such incident to be reported to the police here.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan (Distributed by International News Service)

It seems a shame to forgive Finland's debt . . . they're the only debtors we ever had who ever paid.

And it will sure ball up things in the Treasury Department . . . but perhaps other light work can be found for the fellow who handles "foreign accounts receivable" half days.

We have so much on loan now in Europe it would be impossible as well as unthinkable for them to repay it.

But we're in a better position in the Orient. Our Government didn't leave very much in China and the State Department hints their Government didn't either.

This would be the time to cancel Finland's debt though . . . while the Government is collecting double from Vivian Kellens.

MONDAY, AUGUST 15, 1949
SPENDING PLANS
When bureaucrats in Washington are not busily engaged in explaining how good business is, and will continue to be—a happy circumstance they attribute solely to their own valiant efforts—they are burning the midnight oil preparing legislation to stop unemployment before it gets a long head start.
Public works are in the blueprint stage, $40,000,000 having been appropriated to acquire sites. In addition, it is proposed to push through Congress an economic expansion act, a full employment act and a veterans' economic development corporation act.
Economic stability was originally incorporated in the Spence bill to control all business, including wages, prices and production. That was designed to fight inflation and was dropped. The new version puts emphasis on bolstering business by government aid and encouragement.
Business would be prodded to expand by government guaranteed loans and tax incentives. The government would be authorized to build plants if private enterprise hesitated.
The full employment act would set up a fund of $15,000,000,000 for loans and grants to stimulate business. The veterans' measure proposes to create a corporation to make loans to former GIs and to employers who could provide jobs for ex-servicemen.
It may be expected that these proposals, perhaps in a diluted form, will go through Congress, either in this session or the next. While the loan features are theoretically not debt, there is always more or less loss in government aid. And the public works program can become mighty costly.
These prospects, together with continuing foreign aid and heavy military appropriations, contain no promise of lower budgets. No wonder the economists in Congress act like a licked crowd. They might save a few dollars here and there. But all that would be swallowed up by the burgeoning plans for future spending.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol May 17, 1900. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger

The barn of county commissioner Michael J. Callahan on Buckley street was destroyed by fire at 11:30 p. m., on Tuesday night. The flames spread so rapidly that it was impossible to save any property. Two valuable horses were roasted alive, and five sets of harness, blankets, a quantity of hay, straw and feed besides numerous articles usually contained in a building of that character were lost. The origin of the fire is a mystery. The loss will amount to about $1,000. William Clarke, a member of Fire Co. No. 1 was injured and rendered unconscious by falling timbers.

An automobile race will be run by Dr. William T. Jenkins, former health officer of New York, and John Brisben Walker, editor and proprietor of the Cosmopolitan magazine, from the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York, to the Hotel Bellevue, Philadelphia, on May 30th.

Starting from the Waldorf-Astoria, the racers will pass through Jersey City, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Metuchen, New Brunswick, Franklin Park, Princeton, Trenton, Tullytown, Bristol, Red Lion Hotel and Cedar Hill Inn.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Mr. Taft On His Way

Washington, Aug. 15. ALTHOUGH the election is more than a year off, in about two more weeks Mr. Robert A. Taft will actively begin his campaign in Ohio for a third term as United States Senator. His purpose is to speak at least once in every one of the State's 113 counties. His initial tour, will take three months.

When one considers what and whom Mr. Taft is fighting his fight seems none too soon. His opponents, who include the CIO, the AFL, the Railroad Brotherhood, John L. Lewis, President Truman and all the "Roosevelt liberals" and left-wingers throughout the country, have already started. Their propaganda mills are steadily grinding out anti-Taft material and their financial plans, designed to provide unlimited money for Mr. Taft's defeat, are in full operation. All of which lifts this contest high above the local level.

So far as the issue is concerned, it could hardly be more clear. Very simply it is this: Have the combined bosses of the labor unions the power to destroy a man who dares vote in favor of legislation they oppose? That is what this fight is about and all it is about. There is no other issue and there is no way to escape this one. Every citizen in every state ought to be concerned because to a considerable extent the outcome will determine the kind of country in which he and his family are going to live.

FOR example, it is clear that if Senator Taft is beaten the prestige and power of the labor bosses will be immensely enhanced. Convincing demonstration will have been given that no man can stay in elective office who incurs the hostility of these arrogant and swollen men. If they can beat Taft in Ohio they can beat anyone anywhere. Certainly that is the view of the labor bosses themselves. It is constantly proclaimed in their propaganda. "This," they say, "is the greatest test to which labor has ever been subjected upon it hinges the whole future of the labor movement. Either we triumphantly go forward to our destiny or we go back a generation."

THESE are the battle cries already being sounded. They are echoed and elaborated by the self-styled "liberals" of the so-called American Labor Party, headed by Senator Hubert (Lipp) Humphrey, of Minnesota. The able Mr. Joseph Alsop, himself strongly pro-CIO and very "liberal" indeed, goes even further. Recently, after glowingly dwelling upon the skill, cleverness and teamwork of the individuals managing "labor's campaign" against Mr. Taft, Mr. Alsop wrote that his defeat might see the emergence here of an American Labor party similar to the British Labor party. In other words, once they have beaten Senator Taft there is no reason they should not take the country over.

THIS is exactly what the labor bosses regard as their "destiny." So far as the results of a Taft defeat are concerned, it is significant that Mr. Taft's friends, in and out of his State, and all others everywhere, who want that pregnant question posed above answered in the negative, are in complete accord with the labor boss view. They agree that if they can beat Taft they can beat anyone. They agree that if they beat Taft the labor bosses will have moved forward to their "destiny." And they agree that that "destiny" easily may be the taking over of the country either through the "emergence" of an American labor party similar to the British Labor party or by the domination of the Democratic party to an even greater degree than now.

ONE thing only do advocates of the negative answer stress which the labor bosses ignore. This is the effect of a Taft defeat upon the quality of future candidates. Mr. Taft's friends assert that there would be an insuperable barrier against the presence in public life of men of character and courage. The penalty for failure to obey the labor bosses will have been made so plain that no self-respecting man would want to go to or stay in Congress. A premium would be placed upon servility. All inducement for men of principle would disappear. In brief, candidates could not be elected without labor boss support; equally, none could be re-elected unless on the approved labor list. Any citizen can figure out what sort of Congress and what sort of country ultimately this would give us.

OBVIOUSLY, the stakes for which the labor bosses will play next year in Ohio are bigger than they have played for before. Under the circumstances, there is something genuinely gallant in the spectacle of Senator Taft starting out alone, in his unemotional, logical, somewhat pedantic way, to "explain his position" to the people. One of the least demagogic men in Congress today, he does not beat his breast nor proclaim the purity of his heart. He utters no word in which he does not believe, not even his opponents question his sincerity or his courage. All the big guns of the hearsties, if he wins, it will be without gloating. If he loses, it will be without cringing or compromise.

When Child Is a Poor Speller

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

WHEN you read a letter from any person, with one or several misspelled words in it you tend to have a critical attitude toward the writer thereof. You jump to the conclusion that he does not have much education. Even if you know this person to be a college graduate you may still rate him low on the scale of literacy. Were you an employer, a misspelled word in a letter of application would prejudice you against the applicant. We tend to overlook poor handwriting more readily than poor spelling.

If your child is in the upper elementary grades, high school or college and is a poor speller, his teacher will always be annoyed over his misspelled words. One or two of them in a written test or composition can cause the teacher to rate the written work low even when the content and literary quality is good or superior. Besides, it is awfully discouraging for a pupil or student to get back from the teacher a written paper with colored marks over or under a number of wrongly spelled words.

Serious Handicap
Being a poor speller is a serious handicap at school or college or after formal education ends. To discover early in a child poor ability to spell and to help the child improve his spelling skill has far more meaning than just his low grades in spelling while he has regular spelling lessons at school.

Some children who are miserable spellers in the intermediate grades or high school may suppose they never can become good spellers. Every day at school they have many reminders of this lack. They may be ridiculed and scolded at home and school on account of it. Some teachers and parents may accept the disability as hopeless and permanent. One parent may often refer to an aunt or uncle (especially on the other side of the house) who "never could spell." Even the teacher may tell the parents this child was born short in spelling. Of course, this is an easy way of escaping responsibility by the teacher and parents, even by the child himself.

Slow Learners

Of course, some children may have been born short in spelling as a part of shorthands in ability to learn anything else. Some children are by nature very slow learners in any and every subject. Even most of them can learn far more than we suppose they can. But if any child has average learning success at several other basic school subjects like reading or arithmetic, we can be pretty sure he was not born short in spelling. Barring defects in vision or hearing, any child who gives evidence of average learning ability can learn to spell. It might take a long while and the use of considerable teaching skill, but this child can learn to spell pretty well by and by.

Proper Sequence

We learn to spell a word as we connect in memory the letters which make up this word; in their proper sequence, with the word. Some poor spellers often confuse such letters as b, p, h, d, with one another. Some phonetic spelling, as of such words as mat, fat, pat, will, mill, till; moon, spoon, soon; bring, cling, fling may help the poor speller. Also it is helpful to learn to break up words into syllables. Many words, of course, must be learned by mere repetition of the letters in right sequence, as any, dirt, business, pickle, angel.

As you help a poor speller, be very calm. Have him look at the word and pronounce it, selecting one whose meaning he knows; then have him while looking at it name the letters in right order; and have him do all this over and over again, never trying himself out too soon. Make accuracy the slogan. Better for him to spell two or three correctly than to mess over many. (My bulletin, "Home Helps for Poor Spellers" may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper). More on spelling tomorrow.

Give Your Neck Special Care

To make sure your neck gets thoroughly clean, pin up your hair and, taking a sponge that's been dipped in soapy water, scrub it well.

By HELEN FOLLETT
IN THE good summer time the neck may undergo changes that are not for the better. Sunburn, earlier in the season, may have taken a toll, causing the skin to look dusky, if not downright leathery. If beauty seekers would be thoughtful enough to include the neck when creaming the complexion, it would not carry defects of texture and coloring.

So remember that when, during your bed-time beautifying half hour, you are slathering your countenance with a fragrant emollient. Begin at the collar bones, then you can't possibly skip your neck. Anoint your fingers, smooth up and down. Go all the way around. Pin up your hair at the back of your neck so it will not pick up any of the cream.

Special Need
The short, fat neck is likely to take on necklace creases, is in special need of creaming and massag-

ing so that affliction will not appear. Throw the head backward, massage up to the chin, then from chin to carotids.
If the color of the neck is darker than that of the face, which happens to even the most ardent good-looks seeker, have the flesh once a day with a mild bleach. One can be compounded by combining equal portions of strained lemon juice and peroxide. Open a fresh bottle of the peroxide; this liquid is never quite as effective if the bottle has been opened for some time.

Good Rule
A good rule is: cream and massage for six nights, use the lotion on the seventh.
Flabby flesh and fiddle strings call for exercise. Sit tall, clasp the hands at the back of the neck, move the head from side to side, keeping the clasped hands firmly pressed against the flesh so there is a muscle pull.

PLAYOFF SERIES BOOKED TO START HERE TONIGHT

The playoff series to determine the championship of the Bristol Suburban Baseball League will begin this evening on the Third Ward field. Game will start at six o'clock.

Voltz-Texaco, second half champions, will clash with West Bristol A. C. first half champs. The series will consist of the best of five games with the second tilt scheduled for Thursday evening on Memorial field.

West Bristol won the first half championship after a tough tussle all the way, especially in the last week. The boys of "Jim" Ellis were one-half game to the good during the last part of the schedule but played two tie games with Flannery's. In the third set, Flannery's beat West Bristol, causing the half to end in a deadlock with Voltz-Texaco. In the playoff game, West Bristol nosed out Voltz, 3-2, to gain the first half gonfalon.

Voltz was extended to capture the second half crown, being pressed from start to finish by Flannery's. The lead changed several times during the second half play but the Hibernians threw a monkey wrench into the standing when they beat Flannery's in the final game of the season, giving the gasmen the crown.

Either "Norm" Vetter or Earl Wagner is expected to do the hill chores for West Bristol. Vetter was the leading hurler of the circuit until he lost two games towards the finish of the second half, knocking him out of the running. Wagner started to hurl after the season was well under way but finished high. It is most likely that Rhodes will be the man behind the plate.

Manager Barney Ludwig, of the Oilers, has his choice of "Bill" McGerr or Paul Leighton to chuck them. This pair finished in a tie for the pitching crown with six wins and one defeat each. Ludwig will do the catching.

Both clubs have quite an array of batting stars in the lineup. West Bristol has such hitters as Jack Haines, Charlie Glassmire, "Hank" Killian, "Kenny" Heath, and Kermit Marsh while Voltz has the veteran "Sid" Pursell, Alex Dewsnap, "Charlie" Kohler, "Mickey" Mandio and "Sal" Pappaterra and such speedsters as Dave Ludwig, Dave Morrell, and Horace Saxton.

Although all the official averages have not been tabulated, it is a known fact that Glassmire is one of the leading hitters in the circuit. He batted .431 for the season which is 31 points more than Pursell, of the gasmen. Haines, of West Bristol, ended the season with .333 the same as Manager Ludwig. Charles Kohler had a .392 mark with Marsh having .346.

A large crowd is expected because of the closeness of the league race throughout the season. Umpires for the games will be furnished by the Bristol Umpires' Association.

her fan-shaped bouquet of lavender orchids had a shower of baby breath.

The attendants of the bridegroom are Trentonians, Mr. Angelo Giancarlo, being best man; and Messrs. Joseph Costello and James Tramontana serving as ushers. The latter is a brother of the bridegroom. The men wore white coats and black trousers for the ceremony.

Dinner was served when a large company gathered in Roman hall, Trenton, for the wedding reception. Mr. and Mrs. Tramontana then left for a week's stay at Wildwood, N. J. As a travelling costume the bride had selected a white sharkskin suit, black accessories and wore a corsage of orchids. Their place of abode will be 429 Lafayette street.

Choice of Mrs. Pierandozzi, mother of the bride, for the wedding, was a taupe lace gown, and maroon accessories; while Mrs. Tramontana wore a black ensemble. Each had a corsage composed of orchids.

The bride presented her attendants with marquisette earrings and necklace sets. Mr. Tramontana, who served with the U. S. Army in Europe during World War II, gave his attendants cigarette lighters.

RABBIT IS No. 1 TARGET OF THE NIMRODS

By Bob Vincent

(INS Staff Correspondent)
COLUMBUS, O., (INS) — Game is where you find it — but you find it in the strangest places!

Take the cottontail, for instance. He's easily the Number One target of more nimrods than any other critter that flies or runs.

It will surprise no one that Missouri leads the 46 states reporting the kill of rabbits. It might raise a few eyebrows, however, to find that comparatively small — 35th in size — and densely-populated Ohio runs a fairly close second.

For wing shooters the number one bird is probably the ring-neck, although there are those who will dispute this in favor of the quail.

Again it's no surprise that South Dakota, where the exotic birds are as common as fleas on a hound dog, leads the 22 states reporting a pheasant kill. And it's likewise no matter for comment that Nebraska is second. But did you know that Michigan ranks third? 'sa fact!

Squirrels, fox and gray, are probably next on the national small-game list. And Kentucky and Tennessee, which gave the squirrel rifle its name aren't even listed!

That's an unfair statement with a catch to it, however. Neither state reported squirrel as a game kill.

Fox squirrels fell most frequently to the guns of Hoosiers. Following Indiana were Ohio, Missouri and Michigan. Grays were shot most frequently in North Carolina, followed by West Virginia, Ohio and Mississippi.

The figures are those of Daniel L. Leedy, in charge of the cooperative wildlife research units of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. And he tries to stop most of the arguments before they begin by warning:

"Wildlife bookkeeping methods, although considerably improved in recent years, are still inadequate. The kill figures presented are to be regarded only as estimates, but it is believed they are sufficiently accurate to permit rough comparisons of game and fur production in the various states."

Getting back to rabbits, statistics make dull reading, but here are a few for comparative purposes:

Missouri's kill was an estimated five million bunnies in '46. Following were Ohio with 4,406,000, Indiana 3,600,000, Pennsylvania 1,524,789, North Carolina 1,513,000, Iowa 1,500,000, Kentucky 1,470,656, Michigan 1,306,973, New Jersey 794,136, and Wisconsin 755,200.

One catch is that several western states do not list rabbits as a game animal. These include Wyoming, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico — all of which have sizeable cottontail or jackrabbit populations.

Louisiana is way out in front in the total take of fur animals, and first also in muskrat, opossum and mink. In order the other fur-selling states are Michigan, Minnesota (first in skunk and weasel); Ohio, Pennsylvania (first in fox) and Wisconsin.

Muskrat is the leading pelt, with an estimated 29 million taken annually. Following are 'possum with three million pelts, skunk, two and a half million 'coon two million, mink 800,000, fox 700,000, weasel 400,000, and coyote 300,000.

Edward Renk, 1322 Pond street, has returned home following a week's visit to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Renk, at Monmouth Junction, N. J. During his stay Mr. Renk enjoyed three airplane trips over portions of New Jersey. Mrs. Gladys Nise was a Sunday guest at the Renk home in Monmouth Junction.

BRISTOL YACHTSMEN CAPTURE TROPHIES

In a three race series at the annual sailboat championship regatta of the Yacht Club of Stone Harbor, N. J., Joe Cherubini took second place; and Melvin Locke, third.

High winds played havoc with the boats, causing many to upset and withdraw from the competition. A particularly exciting moment was experienced by Cherubini and his crew, "Pat" Loftus. They were in the lead, coming in for the finish, with other contenders close behind, when a sudden movement of the boat toppled Miss Loftus into the water. Cherubini grasped "Pat" with one hand while holding to his course with the other, and despite the predicament, managed to cross the finish line, seconds later, still in the lead.

In the West End Boat Club power boat races, George Hussey, who has barely recovered from the injuries sustained in the mishap at the Anchor Yacht Club regatta, came in second for the "B" class boats.

This coming week-end, approximately five members of the Bristol Yacht Club are going to participate in the national duster sailboat races to be held at Annapolis, Md.

INVENTS 'MINI-MOUNT' TIRE CHAIN GADGET

Eliminates Jacking Up of Machine to Attach Chains

A CO. SEAT INVENTOR

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 15 — Termed "crazy" five years ago when his co-workers heard him remark that he could make a pair of tire chains that could be applied to an automobile without jacking up or moving the wheels, Elbert G. Fox, of Franklin street, has done the trick. It is announced.

Fox, a loom fixer employed by a local worsted firm, is happy in the fact that his patented item is ready for the market.

Working with old tire chains for several years, Fox finally developed gadget after gadget until he perfected the "Mini-Mount" tire chain attachment, announcement of which will be made to the public throughout the United States within several days, in nation-wide advertisements in trade journals.

At last, the Doylestown invention of Elbert G. Fox has made it possible to put on tire chains anywhere, anytime, safely, quickly, easily, and without jacking up the car or truck, even on grades and ice, mud or snow, it is claimed.

Fox applied for a patent for his invention in May, 1947, and on Feb. 22, this year, the patent was granted. Now a company of five men, including two Doylestownians, Fox and E. C. Bidwell, have formed a company and the entire output of the product will be manufactured in Chicago, Ill., by the Time Saver Corporation of America. The plant is ready to turn out the Doylestown-invented "Mini-Mount" by the thousands. Long before snow arrives, the little time-saving gadget will be on sale in accessory stores throughout the United States.

Inventor Fox revealed the experience of two Doylestownians — Francis and Thero T. Fitzgerald

Sails to Freedom

BECAUSE he didn't like the routine of form-filling, Edward C. Allard, 34, a Naval architect, took off in his 29-foot yawl from Surrey, England, and headed for the United States. who were confronted by a hazardous and otherwise insurmountable highway situation on a hunting trip in the Pennsylvania mountains. Arriving on a steep, ice-coated grade about daybreak in bad weather, the hunters' car and trailer jack-knifed to the side of the road and to all appearances was out of commission until the ice melted. Soon vehicles behind as well as ahead were bogged down and State Police were assigned to the area to warn motorists. It was so slippery the slightest pressure against the car pushed it further down the grade.

The occupants of the other vehicles had no alternative but to wait until conditions improved, since they could not put on chains without jacking or rolling. The hunters maneuvered to the trunk of their car, secured the Doylestown-invented gadget of their friend Fox, and quickly and easily put them on without the car sliding another inch.

The Fitzgeralds crawled back in their car and without difficulty drove up the steep four-mile hill and through the pass. The Fitzgerald vehicle was the only one of the many stalled autos to make the grade until conditions changed several hours later, according to State Police.

Under routine as well as extreme conditions the Doylestown invention pays off because it takes the traditional curse off the chore of chain installations. It eliminates inconvenience, hard work, exposure to physical strains and discomfort, and various hazards inherent in putting on chains in the conventional manner.

"It means," Fox said, "that women as well as men can put on chains whenever and wherever needed without being dependent upon special help or equipment."

Spirit of Eternity, whose love was made known in Jesus of Nazareth, grant us that peace not found in the world about, sustain us day by day by that strength which makes perfect our weakness, and deliver us from any path which takes our lives away from Thy way and Thy truth. May this moment taken to commune with Thee be with us in all moments of the morrow that we may walk in faith, hope, and love. Amen.

EVERY LIFE NEEDS A HOBBY TO KEEP UP KEEN INTEREST

By Frances Vannoy
(Home Economics Extension Representative)

Every well-balanced life needs a hobby. Many more men and women have become increasingly interested in hobbies in recent years. Crafts classes have grown, many new hobby books have been written, and there has been an increase in the number of hobby exhibits throughout the United States.

Everyone should develop a hobby, either collecting favorite items, taking part in sports activities, or developing interest in something outside the daily routine. Hobbies offer worthwhile activity, especially to those who need to create an interest for using their leisure time, for convalescents, and for handicapped persons.

Skills to develop a person physically, include hiking, skiing, swimming, golfing, and many other sports. Painting, metal and leather work, sculpture, and many other crafts are good hobbies for developing hand skills. Some men and women enjoy music, collect pieces of art, or read for a hobby. Others get pleasure from a hobby of collecting objects, such as dolls, pets, or antiques.

An important factor in choosing a hobby is cost. Develop a hobby that is interesting and inexpensive.

VERY much in the tenslight these days, Shirley May France, 16, the Somerset, Mass., girl who soon will try to swim the English Channel, turns the tables on photographers by taking their pictures on a Dover, England, beach. (International)

Often a person can develop a hobby to increase his income, by selling the results of his handiwork.

A hobby has been defined several ways. One definition names a hobby as an inner urge to accomplish a task, not because of compulsion or ethics but because of personal enjoyment or interest in that particular thing.

Enthusiastic hobbyists are urged to pass some of their enthusiasm to those who have no interest outside their jobs.

McCAULEY'S SINGLE ENABLES CROYDON TO BEAT REDSKINS

CROYDON, Aug. 15—Harry McCauley's single enabled Croydon A. C. to nose out the Newportville Redskins, 6-5, here, yesterday, and enter the finals of the Bristol Youth League.

McCauley's blow came in the eighth inning, an overtime period for Youth League baseball. It scored "Bill" Moll who was perched on third base with one gone.

The Redskins gave Harry McCauley's boys plenty of trouble all afternoon. It took a 2-0 lead in the fourth, but it wilted under a four-run attack by Croydon in their part of the inning. After Croydon increased its lead to 5-2, the Redskins came back to register a run in the seventh on an error, base hit by Bob Jones, a stolen base, and a single by Joe Mikalatis.

In the seventh, "Herm" Stuebing's team docked the count on singles by Saul and Robinson, a walk to "Ed" Oliver and single by Bob Jones. Oliver and Jones were still in scoring position when Lumpkin grounded out.

Moll opened the extra frame with a sharp hit to left and stole second. Morrell also got a base hit and went to second unopposed. Hedrick struck out. McCauley worked Paul Schmidt to the 2 and 2 count before lobbing a hit over second to win the fracas.

Jones led the batsmen of the afternoon by getting three hits off Lane Conn. Moll had two of the seven hits that Croydon made off Schmidt and Bob Whitfield.

Manager McGuckin, of Croydon, and Manager Marty Braam, of Bristol Terrace, will meet with the league officers this evening to decide where the final game of the finals will be played. It is most likely that this five-game series will begin Wednesday evening.

MAN MEETS DEATH, 2 OTHERS HURT ON BUCKS HIGHWAYS

Joseph A. Myers, 38, of Perkaskie, Dies of Head and Internal Injuries

MOTORCYCLIST HURT

Boy of 14 Injured Slightly As He Crosses Lincoln Highway

There was one highway fatality in Bucks County during the weekend, a Perkaskie man being the victim. In lower Bucks County a pedestrian, a boy of 14, was slightly hurt when struck by an automobile.

Joseph A. Myers, 38, of Perkaskie R. D. 1, was killed, and Stephen Halewick, 28, of Quakertown R. D. 3, who was riding behind him on a motorcycle, was injured seriously Saturday when the vehicle struck a tree near Weisel, two miles north of Perkaskie.

Myers died at Grandview Hospital, Sellersville. Halewick is in critical condition there with head and internal injuries. State police of the Quakertown barracks said the motorcycle apparently skidded after a light rain.

Myers was married and the father of two children, Halewick, unmarried, is the son of Mrs. Pauline Halewick.

The lad who was injured is Charles Goodyear, 14, of Pine street, Newtown Square. According to Pennsylvania State Police of Langhorne barracks, Goodyear was crossing the Lincoln Highway near Philadelphia City Line, at 745 last evening. He is said to have been hit by an automobile operated by Harold T. Beach, 53, of 1299 block of Sanger street, Philadelphia. The driver took the lad to Nazareth Hospital, Phila., where he was treated for laceration of the right knee.

3M's Sales For Six Months Show Increase

Net sales of the Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. for the second quarter of 1949 were $27,467,435, according to the firm's interim report, issued to stockholders today.

This was an increase of nearly $800,000 over the same period a year ago, and brings 3M's sales for the first six months of 1949 to $54,552,850, up nearly three million over the first half of 1948.

Second quarter earnings per share of common stock were $1.53, compared to $1.44 last year.

Net income after taxes amounted to $3,114,978, or $299,009 over the second quarter of 1948.

In a letter which accompanied the financial report, William L. McKnight, 3M president, pointed out that the latest sales figures reached an all-time high for his company.

But he warned that "in view of present conditions, it would certainly be over-optimistic to expect that sales during the last half of 1949 will approach the record levels reached during the last half of 1948."

"However," McKnight noted, "should there be an early leveling-off in the current business downswing, there is good reason to believe that our sales will continue at a fairly high level."

He blamed 3M's slightly lower profit ratio for the second quarter on the increased sale of low-profit items and greater "emphasis on our selling and research activities."

Headquarters of the company are in St. Paul and one of the company's plants is located in Bristol.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Early returns in the election of a Lower House for the German Federal Republic yesterday showed a swing to the right with the conservative Christian Democratic Union polling 3,590,000 votes to 2,999,000 for the Social Democrats. The Communists were running a poor fourth with 780,000.

Western Germans exhibited little excitement as they took part in their first free election since the days of the Weimar Republic. There was some uneasiness but few crowds and little interest in the returns.

The Greek Nationalist Minister of War announced his Government's terms for ending the three-year civil war. They included unconditional surrender by the Communist-led guerrillas, court martial trials for rebel leaders and freedom from reprisal for rebels' families. The Greek General Staff reported that guerrilla defensive positions in the Vitsi Mountains had been wiped out after a four-day offensive.

Twelve thousand Roman Catholics gathered at Trnava in Slovakia for the consecration of two new Czechoslovak Bishops. There was no interference with the ceremony, despite lack of approval by the Communist Government.

BOLT DESTROYS RANGE AND A REFRIGERATOR

Jackson Home at Fallsington Damaged Considerably by Lightning

ESTIMATED AT $2,500

FALLSINGTON, Aug. 15—A residence here was damaged to the extent of approximately $2,500 Saturday night when struck by a bolt of lightning. The house was owned by Jackson Brothers, Makefield road, and was struck during a heavy thunderstorm. No one was injured.

According to Chief Charles Steiner of the Falls Township Fire Co., the bolt struck the rear of the house and crashed through the kitchen, destroying a refrigerator and an electric range, as well as causing considerable damage to the roof of the dwelling. Observers said the bolt tore a gaping hole in the side of the house, strewn weather boards 75 feet from the building.

A woman who had been working in the kitchen left the room seconds before the lightning struck.

Police and Families Have A Gala Picnic

EDDINGTON, Aug. 15—Yesterday was a big day for members and associate members of Bucks Lodge, No. 53, Fraternal Order of Police. There were approximately 200 in attendance during the day at the outing which was held at Killian Country Club, here. Families of the policemen were among the guests.

There was a program of interesting games and contests carried out during the afternoon. The results of these games is in doubt. The married men claim that the single men were no match for them, while the single cops claim that they "copped" the game. The baseball game between the bachelors and the benedicts only went two innings, and it is the married men's contention that they scored so many runs that the game was called.

When the foot races were over, charges were made that too many dashes for the dinner table, instead of the given goals.

Judging by accounts of some few regarding enormous appetites of other officers, tons of food and gallons of beverages must have disappeared.

TO OFFER PRACTICAL SPEECH COURSE HERE

Is Designed to Help People in All Walks of Life

SELF-CONFIDENCE AID

Practical speech or public speaking, a course designed to help the needs of people in all walks of life, will be offered at the Penn State evening class program at the Bristol high school beginning September 15.

This course, which has proved extremely popular when offered by the College in other parts of the State, starts off with basic essentials. Stress will be placed on the fundamentals underlying good speech, including the organization of thought. Consideration will be given to correct and effective vocal and bodily activity and the removal of individual difficulties, both mental and physical. The delivery of brief speeches by class members will also be an integral part of the course.

Alfred E. Lewis, administrative head of the evening class program, said today that the course is not aimed to make orators but rather to give one a degree of self-confidence in thinking on his feet before groups and thinking logically in discussion groups.

Other courses contemplated for the fall term program are history of Pennsylvania, general psychology, traffic management, Spanish, art, industrial relations, business law, insurance, elementary and advanced accounting, business letter writing, business arithmetic, and a number of engineering courses, including electricity and drafting.

Car Reported Stolen Was Only Taken in Mistake

An automobile reported stolen from the Bristol parking lot, Saturday night, was found later to have been taken by mistake. It was returned to the owner.

A car registered in the name of Charles and Mary MacIntosh, 1957 Sterling street, Philadelphia, was reported missing to the police Saturday evening. The car had been left by the operator on the parking lot while he attended a local movie. It was a 1941 Dodge four-door sedan painted black.

The car was listed as stolen and the usual teletype message sent out. Yesterday George Smeltzer, Main street, Croydon, reported to the police that he found he had taken the wrong car from the parking lot. Smeltzer's car was the same model, same year, same color, and had the same seat covers as the MacIntosh car.

Police did a little checking and found that the Croydon man had in error taken the MacIntosh car as his key fitted the ignition.

This is the second such incident to be reported to the police here.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan
(Distributed by International News Service)

It seems a shame to forgive Finland's debt . . . they're the only debtors we ever had who ever paid.

And it will sure bail up things in the Treasury Department . . . but perhaps other light work can be found for the fellow who handles "foreign accounts receivable" half days.

We have so much out on loan now in Europe it would be impossible as well as unthinkable for them to repay it.

But we're in a better position in the Orient. Our Government didn't leave very much in China and the State Department hints their Government didn't either.

This would be the time to cancel Finland's debt though . . . while the Government is collecting double from Vivian Kellems.

Miss Kellems is foremost in her field as a grip maker but she hasn't made anything yet that can compare with the Treasury's grip.

SPENDING PLANS
When bureaucrats in Washington are not busy engaged in explaining how good business is, and will continue to be — a happy circumstance they attribute solely to their own valiant efforts — they are burning the midnight oil preparing legislation to stop unemployment before it gets a long head start.

Public works are in the blueprint stage, $40,000,000 having been appropriated to acquire sites. In addition, it is proposed to push through Congress an economic expansion act, a full employment act and a veterans' economic development corporation act.

Economic stability was originally incorporated in the Spence bill to control all business, including wages, prices and production. That was designed to fight inflation and was dropped. The new version puts emphasis on bolstering business by government aid and encouragement.

Business would be prodded to expand by government guaranteed loans and tax incentives. The government would be authorized to build plants if private enterprise hesitated.

The full employment act would set up a fund of $15,000,000,000 for loans and grants to stimulate business. The veterans' measure proposes to create a corporation to make loans to former GIs and to employers who could provide jobs for ex-servicemen.

It may be expected that these proposals, perhaps in a diluted form, will go through Congress, either in this session or the next. While the loan features are theoretically not debt, there is always more or less loss in government aid. And the public works program can become mighty costly.

These prospects, together with continuing foreign aid and heavy military appropriations, contain no promise of lower budgets. No wonder the economists in Congress act like a licked crowd. They might save a few dollars here and there. But all that would be swallowed up by the burgeoning plans for future spending.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol May 17, 1900. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger

The barn of county commissioner Michael J. Callahan on Buckley street was destroyed by fire at 11:30 p. m. on Tuesday night. The flames spread so rapidly that it was impossible to save any property. Two valuable horses were roasted alive, and five sets of harness, blankets, a quantity of hay, straw and feed besides numerous articles usually contained in a building of that character were lost. The origin of the fire is a mystery. The loss will amount to about $1,000. William Clarke, a member of Fire Co. No. 1 was injured and rendered unconscious by falling timbers.

An automobile race will be run by Dr. William T. Jenkins, former health officer of New York, and John Brisben Walker, editor and proprietor of the Cosmopolitan magazine, from the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York, to the Hotel Bellevue, Philadelphia, on May 30th. Starting from the Waldorf-Astoria, the racers will pass through Jersey City, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Metuchen, New Brunswick, Franklin Park, Princeton, Trenton, Tullytown, Bristol, Red Lion Hotel and Cedar Hill Inn.

J. Asher Gross, who has been employed in the Intelligence office (Doylestown) for several years, has resigned his position, and accepted the foremanship of the Bristol Gazette.

Hon. Webster D. Weiss, of Bethlehem, grand regent of the Royal Arcanum, was the guest of Non-Parliament Council last Tuesday evening. An excellent dinner in his honor was served at the Hotel Closson at which were Messrs. L. T. Rodan, S. W. Groff, W. E. Downing, W. E. Doron, Frank Chambers and Benjamin Lovett.

The Rev. Thomas J. Garland, of Loraine, Ohio, has accepted the appointment of Bishop Whitaker to St. Paul's Mission. The beautiful house and grounds on Tadeliffe street, fronting the Delaware river, formerly belonging to Edgar C. Howell, has been secured for his residence.

Assessor Watt of the second ward has assessed 225 bicycles in that ward. The county officials estimated that about 800 wheels would be found in the county, but the indications are that the assessors will find many more than the number

By FRANK R. KENT

Mr. Taft On His Way

Washington, Aug. 15. ALTHOUGH the election is more than a year off, in about two more weeks Mr. Robert A. Taft will actively begin his campaign in Ohio for a third term as United States Senator. His purpose is to speak at least once in every one of the State's 113 counties. This, his initial tour, will take three months.

WHEN one considers what and whom Mr. Taft is fighting his start seems none too soon. His opponents, who include the CIO, the AFL, the Railroad Brotherhood, John L. Lewis, President Truman and all the "Roosevelt liberals" and left-wingers throughout the country, have already started. Their propaganda mills are steadily grinding out anti-Taft material and their financial plans, designed to provide unlimited money for Mr. Taft's defeat, are in full operation. All of which lifts this contest high above the local level.

SO far as the issue is concerned, it could hardly be more clear. Very simply it is this: Have the combined bosses of the labor unions the power to destroy a man who dares vote in favor of legislation they oppose? That is what this fight is about and all it is about. There is no other issue and there is no way to escape this one. Every citizen in every state ought to be concerned because to a considerable extent the outcome will determine the kind of country in which he and his family are going to live.

FOR example, it is clear that if Senator Taft is beaten the prestige and power of the labor bosses will be immensely enhanced. Convincing demonstration will have been given that no man can stay in elective office who incurs the hostility of these arrogant and swollen men. If they can beat Taft in Ohio they can beat anyone anywhere. Certainly that is the view of the labor bosses themselves. It is constantly proclaimed in their propaganda. "This," they say, "is the greatest test to which labor has ever been subjected. Upon it hinges the whole future of the labor movement. Either we triumphantly go forward to our destiny or we go back a generation."

THESE are the battle cries already being sounded. They are echoed and elaborated by the self-styled "liberals" of the so-called Americans for Democratic Action, headed by Senator Hubert (Lippy) Humphrey, of Minnesota. The able Mr. Joseph Alsop, himself strongly "liberal" and very "liberal," indeed, goes even further. Recently, after glowingly dwelling upon the skill, cleverness and teamwork of the individuals managing "labor's campaign" against Mr. Taft, Mr. Alsop wrote that his defeat might see the emergence here of an American Labor party similar to the British Labor party. In other words, once they have beaten Senator Taft there is no reason they should not take the country over.

THIS is exactly what the labor bosses regard as their "destiny." So far as the results of a Taft defeat are concerned, it is significant that Mr. Taft's friends, in and out of his State, and all others everywhere, who want that pregnant question posed above answered in the negative, are in complete accord with the labor boss view. They agree that if they can beat Taft they can beat anyone. They agree that if they beat Taft the labor bosses will have moved forward to their "destiny." And they agree that "destiny" easily may be the taking over of the country either through the "emergence of an American labor party" or by the domination of the Democratic party to an even greater degree than now.

ONE thing only do advocates of the negative answer stress which the labor bosses ignore. This is the effect of a Taft defeat upon the quality of future candidates. Mr. Taft's friends assert that there would be an insuperable barrier against the presence in public life of men of character and courage. The penalty for failure to obey the labor bosses will have been made so plain that no self-respecting man would want to go to or stay in Congress. A minimum would be placed upon servility. All inducement for men of principle would disappear. In brief, candidates could not be elected without labor boss support; equally, none could be re-elected unless on the approved labor list. Any citizen can figure out what sort of Congress and what sort of country ultimately this would give us.

OBVIOUSLY, the stakes for which the labor bosses will play next year in Ohio are bigger than they have played for before. Under the circumstances, there is something genuinely gallant in the spectacle of Senator Taft starting out alone.

In his unemotional, logical, somewhat pedantic way, to "explain his position" to the people. One of the least demagogic men in Congress today, he does not beat his breast nor proclaim the purity of his heart. He utters no word in which he does not believe, nor even his opponents question his sincerity or his courage. All the big sins of the great unions are trained on him as he starts. If he wins, it will be without gloating. If he loses, it will be without cringing or compromise.

When Child Is a Poor Speller

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

WHEN you read a letter from any person, with one or several misspelled words in it you tend to have a critical attitude toward the writer thereof. You jump to the conclusion that he does not have much education. Even if you know this person to be a college graduate you may still rate him low on the scale of literacy. Were you an employer, a misspelled word in a letter of application would prejudice you against the applicant. We tend to overlook poor handwriting more readily than poor spelling.

If your child is in the upper elementary grades, high school or college and is a poor speller, his teacher will always be annoyed over his misspelled words. One or two of them in a written test or composition can cause the teacher to rate the written work low even when the content and literary quality is good or superior. Besides, it is awfully discouraging for a pupil or student to get back from the teacher a written paper with colored marks over or under a number of wrongly spelled words.

Serious Handicap
Being a poor speller is a serious handicap at school or college or after formal education ends. To discover early in a child poor ability to spell and to help the child improve his spelling skill has far more meaning than just his low grades in spelling while he has regular spelling lessons at school.

Some children who are miserable spellers in the intermediate grades or high school may suppose they never can become good spellers. Every day at school they have many reminders of this lack. They may be ridiculed and scolded at home and school on account of it. Some teachers and parents may accept the disability as hopeless and permanent. One parent may often refer to an aunt or uncle (especially on the other side of the house) who "never could spell." Even the teacher may tell the parents this child was born short in spelling. Of course, this is an easy way of escaping responsibility by the teacher and parents, even by the child himself.

Slow Learners

Of course, some children may have been born short in spelling as a part of shortness in ability to learn anything else. Some children are by nature very slow learners in any and every subject. Even most of them can learn far more than we suppose they can. But if any child has average learning success at several other basic school subjects like reading or arithmetic, we can be pretty sure he was not born short in spelling. Barring defects in vision or hearing, any child who gives evidence of average learning ability can learn to spell. It might take a long while and the use of considerable teaching skill, but this child can learn to spell pretty well by and by.

Proper Sequence

We learn to spell a word as we connect in memory the letters which make up this word; in their proper sequence, with the word. Some poor spellers often confuse such letters as b, p, h, d, with one another. Some phonetic spelling, as of such words as mat, fat, pat, will, mill, till; moon, spoon, soon; bring, cling, fling may help the poor speller. Also it is helpful to learn to break up words into syllables. Many words, of course, must be learned by mere repetition of the letters in right sequence, as any, dirt, business, pickle, angel.

As you help a poor speller, be very calm. Have him look at the word and pronounce it, selecting one whose meaning he knows; then have him while looking at it name the letters in right order; and have him do all this over and over again, never trying himself out too soon. Make accuracy the slogan. Better for him to spell two or three correctly than to mess over many. (My bulletin, "Home Helps for Poor Spellers" may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper). More on spelling tomorrow.

Give Your Neck Special Care

To make sure your neck gets thoroughly clean, pin up your hair and, taking a sponge that's been dipped in soapy water, scrub it well.

By HELEN FOLLETT

IN THE good summer time the neck may undergo changes that are not for the better. Sunburn, earlier in the season, may have taken a toll, causing the skin to look dusky, if not downright leathery. If beauty seekers would be thoughtful enough to include the neck when creaming the complexion, it would not carry defects of texture and coloring.

So remember that when, during your bed-time beautifying half hour, you are slathering your countenance with a fragrant emollient. Begin at the collar bones, then you can't possibly skip your neck. Anoint your fingers, smooth up and down. Go all the way around. Pin up your hair at the back of your neck so it will not pick up any of the cream.

Special Need

The short, fat neck is likely to take on necklace creases, is in special need of creaming and massag-

ing so that affliction will not appear. Throw the head backward, massage up to the chin, then from chin to collarbones.

If the color of the neck is darker than that of the face, which happens to even the most ardent good-looks seeker, lave the flesh once a day with a mild bleach. One can be compounded by combining equal portions of strained lemon juice and peroxide. Open a fresh bottle of the peroxide; this liquid is never quite as effective if the bottle has been opened for some time.

Good Rule

A good rule is: cream and massage for six nights, use the lotion on the seventh.

Flabby flesh and fiddle strings call for exercise. Sit tall, clasp the hands at the back of the neck, move the head from side to side, keeping the clasped hands firmly pressed against the flesh so there is a muscle pull.

PLAYOFF SERIES BOOKED TO START HERE TONIGHT

The playoff series to determine the championship of the Bristol Suburban Baseball League will begin this evening on the Third Ward field. Game will start at six o'clock.

Voltz-Texaco, second half champions, will clash with West Bristol A. C. first half champs. The series will consist of the best of five games with the second tilt scheduled for Thursday evening on Memorial field.

West Bristol won the first half championship after a tough tussle all the way, especially in the last week. The boys of "Jim" Ellis were one-half game to the good during the last part of the schedule but Flannery's beat West Bristol, causing the half to end in a deadlock with Voltz-Texaco. In the playoff game, West Bristol nosed out Voltz, 3-2, to gain the first half gonfalon.

Voltz was extended to capture the second half crown, being pressed from start to finish by Flannery's. The lead changed several times during the second half play but the Hibernians threw a monkey wrench into the standing when they beat Flannery's in the final game of the season, giving the gasmen the crown.

Either "Norm" Vetter or Earl Wagner is expected to do the hill chores for West Bristol. Vetter was the leading hurler of the circuit until he lost two games towards the finish of the second half, knocking him out of the running. Wagner started to hurl after the season was well under way but finished high. It is most likely that Rhodes will be the man behind the plate.

Manager Barney Ludwig, of the Oilers, has his choice of "Bill" McGerr or Paul Leighton to chuck them. This pair finished in a tie for the pitching crown with six wins and one defeat each. Ludwig will do the catching.

Both clubs have quite an array of batting stars in the lineup. West Bristol has such hitters as Jack Haines, Charlie Glassmire, "Hank" Killian, "Kenny" Heath, and Kermit Marsh while Voltz has the veteran "Sid" Pursell, Alex Downsap, "Charlie" Kohler, "Mickey" Mandio and "Sal" Pappaterra and such speedsters as Dave Ludwig, Dave Morrell, and Horace Saxton.

Although all the official averages have not been tabulated, it is a known fact that Glassmire is one of the leading hitters in the circuit. He batted .431 for the season which is 31 points more than Pursell, of the gamen. Haines, of West Bristol, ended the season with .333 the same as Manager Ludwig. Charles Kohler had a .392 mark with Marsh having .346.

A large crowd is expected because of the closeness of the league race throughout the season.

Umpires for the games will be furnished by the Bristol Empire Association.

RABBIT IS No. 1 TARGET OF THE NIMRODS

By Bob Vincent

(INS Staff Correspondent)
COLUMBUS, O., (INS) — Game is where you find it — but you find it in the strangest places!

Take the cottontail, for instance. He's easily the Number One target of more nimrods than any other critter that flies or runs.

It will surprise no one that Missouri leads the 46 states reporting the kill of rabbits. It might raise a few eyebrows, however, to find that comparatively small — 35th in size — and densely-populated Ohio runs a fairly close second.

For wing shooters the number one bird is probably the ring-neck, although there are those who will dispute this in favor of the quail. Again it's no surprise that South Dakota, where the exotic birds are as common as fleas on a hound dog, leads the 22 states reporting a pheasant kill. And it's likewise no matter for comment that Nebraska is second. But did YOU know that Michigan ranks third? 'sa fact!

Squirrels, fox and gray, are probably next on the national small-game list. And Kentucky and Tennessee, which gave the squirrel rifle its name aren't even listed!

That's an unfair statement with a catch to it, however. Neither state reported squirrel as a game kill.

Fox squirrels fell most frequently to the guns of Hoosiers. Following Indiana were Ohio, Missouri and Michigan. Grays were shot most frequently in North Carolina, followed by West Virginia, Ohio and Mississippi.

The figures are those of Daniel L. Leedy, in charge of the cooperative wildlife research units of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. And he tries to stop most of the arguments before they begin by warning:

"Wildlife bookkeeping methods, although considerably improved in recent years, are still inadequate. The kill figures presented are to be regarded only as estimates, but it is believed they are sufficiently accurate to permit rough comparisons of game and fur production in the various states."

Getting back to rabbits, statistics make dull reading, but here are a few for comparative purposes:

Missouri's kill was an estimated five million bunnies in '48. Following were Ohio with 4,406,000, Indiana 3,600,000, Pennsylvania 1,524,789, North Carolina 1,513,000, Iowa 1,500,000, Kentucky 1,470,656, Michigan 1,306,973, New Jersey 794,136, and Wisconsin 755,200.

One catch is that several western states do not list rabbits as a game animal. These include Wyoming, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico — all of which have sizeable cottontail or jackrabbit populations.

Louisiana is way out in front in the total take of fur animals, and first also in muskrat, opossum and mink. In order the other fur-selling states are Michigan, Minnesota (first in skunk and weasel); Ohio, Pennsylvania (first in fox) and Wisconsin.

Muskrat is the leading pelt, with an estimated 20 million taken annually. Following are possum with three million pelts, skunk, two and a half million 'coon two million; mink 800,000, fox 700,000, weasel 400,000, and coyote 300,000.

Edward Renk, 1322 Pond street, has returned home following a week's visit to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Renk, at Monmouth Junction, N. J. During his stay Mr. Renk enjoyed three airplane trips over portions of New Jersey. Mrs. Gladys Nise was a Sunday guest at the Renk home in Monmouth Junction.

BRISTOL YACHTSMEN CAPTURE TROPHIES

In a three race series at the annual sailboat championship regatta of the Yacht Club of Stone Harbor, N. J., Joe Cherubini took second place; and Melvin Locke, third.

High winds played havoc with the boats, causing many to upset and withdraw from the competition. A particularly exciting moment was experienced by Cherubini and his crew, "Pat" Loftus. They were in the lead, coming in for the finish, with other contenders close behind, when a sudden movement of the boat toppled Miss Loftus into the water. Cherubini grasped "Pat" with one hand while holding to his course with the other, and despite the predicament, managed to cross the finish line, seconds later, still in the lead.

In the West End Boat Club power boat races, George Hussey, who has barely recovered from the injuries sustained in the mishap at the Anchor Yacht Club regatta, came in second for the "B" class boats.

This coming week-end, approximately five members of the Bristol Yacht Club are going to participate in the national duster sailboat races to be held at Annapolis, Md.

'BEST FRIENDS' SWAP THEIR MATES

INVENTS 'MINI-MOUNT' TIRE CHAIN GADGET

Eliminates Jacking Up of Machine to Attach Chains

A CO. SEAT INVENTOR

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 15 — Termined "crazy" five years ago when his co-workers heard him remark that he could make a pair of tire chains that could be applied to an automobile without jacking up or moving the wheels, Elbert G. Fox, of Franklin street, has done the trick. It is announced.

Fox, a loom fixer employed by a local worsted firm, is happy in the fact that his patented item is ready for the market.

Working with old tire chains for several years, Fox finally developed the "Mini-Mount" tire chain attachment, announcement of which will be made to the public through-out the United States within several days, in nation-wide advertisements in trade journals.

At last, the Doylestown invention of El Fox has made it possible to put on tire chains anywhere, anytime, safely, quickly, easily, and without jacking up the car or truck, even on grades and ice, mud or snow, it is claimed.

Fox applied for a patent for his invention in May, 1947, and on Feb. 22, this year, the patent was granted. Now a company of five men, including two Doylestownians, Fox and E. C. Bidwell, have formed a company and the entire output of the product will be manufactured in Chicago, Ill., by the Time Saver Corporation of America. The plant is ready to turn out the Doylestown-invented "Mini-Mount" by the thousands. Long before snow arrives, the little time-saving gadget will be on sale in accessory stores throughout the United States.

Inventor Fox revealed the experience of two Doylestownians — Francis and Thelma T. Fitzgerald who were confronted by a hazardous and otherwise insurmountable highway situation on a hunting trip in the Pennsylvania mountains. Arriving on a steep, ice-coated grade about daybreak in bad weather, the hunters' car and trailer jack-knifed to the side of the road and to all appearances was out of commission until the ice melted. Soon vehicles behind as well as ahead were bogged down and State Police were assigned to the area to warn motorists. It was so slippery the slightest pressure against the car pushed it further down grade.

The occupants of the other vehicles had no alternative but to wait until conditions improved, since they could not put on chains without jacking or rolling. The hunters maneuvered to the trunk of their car, secured the Doylestown-invented gadget of their friend Fox, and quickly and easily put them on without the car sliding another inch.

The Fitzgeralds crawled back in their car and without difficulty drove up the steep four-mile hill and through the pass. The Fitzgerald vehicle was the only one of the many stalled autos to make the grade until conditions changed several hours later, according to State Police.

tion pays off because it takes the traditional curse off the chore of chain installations. It eliminates inconvenience, hard work, exposure to physical strains and discomfort, and various hazards inherent in putting on chains in the conventional manner.

"It means," Fox said, "that women as well as men can put on chains whenever and wherever needed without being dependent upon special help or equipment."

JUNCTION CITY, Kans. — (INS) — Junction City's 9:30 p. m. curfew siren has been silenced. The city commission ordered its discontinuance because it annoyed people who live near the fire station where it has sounded off nightly for many years.

BECAUSE he didn't like the routine of form-filling, Edward C. Allard, 34, a Naval architect, took off in his 29-foot yawl from Surrey, England, and headed for the United States.

Spirit of Eternity, whose love was made known in Jesus of Nazareth, grant us that peace not found in the world about, sustain us day by day by that strength which makes perfect our weakness, and deliver us from any path which takes our lives away from Thy way and Thy truth. EVERY LIFE NEEDS A HOBBY TO KEEP UP KEEN INTEREST

By Frances Vannoy
(Home Economics Extension Representative)

Every well-balanced life needs a hobby. Many more men and women have become increasingly interested in hobbies in recent years. Crafts classes have grown, many new hobby books have been written, and there has been an increase in the number of hobby exhibits throughout the United States.

Everyone should develop a hobby, either collecting favorite items, taking part in sports activities, or developing interest in something outside the daily routine. Hobbies offer worthwhile activity, especially to those who need to create an interest for using their leisure time, for convalescents, and for handicapped persons.

Skills to develop a person physically, include hiking, skiing, swimming, golfing, and many other sports. Painting, metal and leather work, sculpture, and many other crafts are good hobbies for developing hand skills. Some men and women enjoy music, collect pieces of art, or read for a hobby. Others get pleasure from a hobby of collecting objects, such as dolls, pets, or antiques.

An important factor in choosing a hobby is cost. Develop a hobby that is interesting and inexpensive.

Turns Tables

VERY much in the limelight these days, Shirley May France, 16, the Somerset, Mass., girl who soon will try to swim the English Channel, turns the tables on photographers by taking their pictures on a Dover, England, beach. (International)

Often a person can develop a hobby to increase his income, by selling the results of his handiwork.

A hobby has been defined several ways. One definition names a hobby as an inner urge to accomplish a task, not because of compulsion or ethics but because of personal enjoyment or interest in that particular thing.

Enthusiastic hobbyists are urged to pass some of their enthusiasm to those who have no interest outside their jobs.

McCAULEY'S SINGLE ENABLES CROYDON TO BEAT REDSKINS

CROYDON, Aug. 15—Harry McCauley's single enabled Croydon A. C. to nose out the Newportville Redskins, 6-5, here, yesterday, and enter the finals of the Bristol Youth League.

McCauley's blow came in the eighth inning, an overtime period for Youth League baseball. It scored "Bill" Moll who was perched on third base with one gone.

The Redskins gave Harry McCauley's boys plenty of trouble all afternoon. It took a 2-0 lead in the fourth, but it wilted under a four-run attack by Croydon in their part of the inning. After Croydon increased its lead to 5-2, the Redskins came back to register a run in the seventh on an error, base hit by Bob Jones, a stolen base, and a single by Joe Mikelatis.

In the seventh, "Herm" Stuebbling's team deadlocked the count on singles by Saul and Robinson, a walk to "Ed" Oliver and single by Bob Jones. Oliver and Jones were still in scoring position when Lumpkin grounded out.

Moll opened the extra frame with a sharp hit to left and stole second. Morrell also got a base hit and went to second unmolested. Hedrick struck out. McCauley worked Paul Schmidt to the 2 and 2 count before lobbing a hit over second to win the fracas.

Jones led the batsmen of the afternoon by getting three hits off Lane Conn. Moll had two of the seven hits that Croydon made off Schmidt and Bob Whitfield.

Manager McGuckin, of Croydon, and Manager Marty Braam, of Bristol Terrace, will meet with the league officers this evening to decide where the first game of the finals will be played. It is most likely that this five-game series will begin Wednesday evening.
